Sen. Kennedy Gives Demos His Views in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 23—(P)—A New England senator tagged the great drought of the Midwest and Southwest tonight as "our nation's No. 1 economic problem."

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) said "the sharp contrast between the attitudes and actions of the Democrats and the Republicans on this issue provides the best example in 10 years of the real difference between the two parties." Kennedy, who came close to being the Democratic vice

You get more to be proud of in a Chevrolet!

You'll take pride in the way it looks—the way it acts—and the way it's put together. No other lowpriced car is quite so sweet, smooth and sassy, or so solidly and finely made.

You'll feel a very special kind of pride the day you park a new Chevrolet in your driveway. It's a beautiful sight to behold.

And when the neighbors drop by to 'look 'er over, you'll be prouder than ever. They'll see fine construction and finishing touches throughout. For instance, they'll feel the extra solidity of Body by Fisher, and they'll see the deeper luster of Chevy's longlasting lacquer paint job.

Then they'll want a ride to see if Chevrolet is as sweet, smooth and sassy as it looks. That's how people become happy Chevy owners. Stop in and see.

"I'm the happiest person in the world-Since Kellogg's

ALL-BRAN overcame my irregularity"

Millions of people have discovered this gentle, natural way to get relief from constipation due to lack of good food bulk. As Ellen Drozd, Lancaster, Mass, writes:

"I tried everything imagina-ble. Finally bought Kellogg's All-Bran. Now I'm the happiest person in the world-since it overcame my irregularity. I also enjoy the flavor."

If constipation is your problem, put your trust in nature and try Kellogg's All-Bran. All-Bran restores the natural legative bulk that so many of us fail to eat. This is why All-Bran often works in cases where chemical or drug-type laxatives (intended for temporary relief) don't seem to help. All-Bran is made from the vital outer layers of wheat. It has the delicious flavor of old time bran muffins. Wholesome,

Made by Kellogg's, All-Bran is the original, ready-to-eat bran cereal. Eat All-Bran for 10 days. See if it doesn't bring you natural regularity.

If not satisfied in every respect, simply return the empty carton and get twice what you An ounce of prevention daily carton and get twice what you (in the form of All-Bran) can do paid. That's a promise from wonders to help keep you regular. Kellogg's of Battle Creek, Mich.

Enforcement of the law in all respects is not as simple as it sounds. Nevertheless the public complains either because of personal observation of some infraction of the law, or by repeating what someone else said.

Witnesses can become either awfully vague or exponents of overstatement sometimes, especially when they are called upon to appear before a court or investigating body.

For a person to yell "Arrest that man!" is easy enough, but to convict him is another matter. In a final showdown the courts must have evidence beyond a reasonable doubt.

This sort of situation arises many times when a grand jury is called into session. One of the points stressed by the Circuit Judge is that such jury give courteous hearing to any person with a jus' complaint. This is done. But many times a courteous hearing is not productive of the kind of information which warrants an indictment.

So the public gets an idea the grand jury doesn't do anything. Some years age a Pettis County grand jury investigated a charge of commercial gambling in Sedalia. One might conclude getting evidence of such law violations would be a cinch for a grand jury. But it wasn't.

The same holds for investigation of liquor law violations. Sometimes witnesses can be as scarce as hen's teeth, and as evasive as a cockroach when they confront inquisitors.

The grand jury which reported last week after investigating liquor law violations in Pettis county, had this to say:

"While there may be some violations, we were unable to obtain direct evidence of any specific violation, although we felt in some instances intoxicants are being sold to minors. We feel that the liquor inspector is attempting to do a conscientious job, but he is being continuously subjected to pressure because of his unbiased investigations. Realizing that this report cannot change the situation nevertheless, we think that the policing of four counties with some 300 liquor licenses is too great a task to be adequately carried on by one liquor inspector."

If such be the case then the Missouri Department of Liquor Control at Jefferson City should be so advised by the Prosecuting Attorney in the interest of having a reappraisal made and tighter supervision established in our four county district with 300 licenses by assignment of an additional inspector.

A point can be made of the observation that the liquor inspector is continuously subjected to pressure because of his unbiased investigation. There can be double meaning in the word "press-

Anyone doing an enforcement job is continually under personal pressure especially if he has to police four countier with some 300 licenses to check. The grand jury rightly indicates this is too great a task to be adequately carried on by one inspector.

But if the inspector is being subjected to pressure from outside sources because of his unbiased investigation, if that's what is meant, then maybe another grand jury ought to look into that pnase of law violation—intimidation of a law enforcement officer. That, too would be difficult to prove, exciting as the prospect might be.

The recent grand jury also observed that it "realizes the existence of the juvenile delinquency problem in Pettis county, and recommends stricter enforcement of existing laws pertaining to juveniles in order to curb said juvenile delin-

Now if the grand jury's report stimulates the morale of law enforcement officers to resist pressure and enforce existing laws, the jury's deliberations will not have been unavailing.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Dulles Diplomacy Has Diplomats Guessing

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON-The public has not been entirely aware of it, but Secretary Dulles's Mideast policies have wavered back and forth so much during the past 10 days that both diplomats and senators are not quite sure just where they are. Here is a chronological record of what has happened in the backstage jockeying over whether to impose or not impose sanctions.

1. On Monday, Feb. 11-Secretary Dulles attended what is called a "backgrounder"-a special, private conference with select newsmen. this one at the home of a prominent Washington publisher. Here he outlined American willingness to support the principle of freedom of Israeli shipping through the Gulf of Aqaba. He indicated that the United States would undertake to support this principle if it were violated by Egypt.

2. Also on Monday, Feb. 11, though earlier in the day, Dulles delivered a formal note to the Israeli government reportedly giving it the same general assurances on free shipping.

3. On Tuesday, Feb. 12, the Israeli embassy, reading the newspapers, noted the "background" story which had come direct from Secretary Dulles, though he was not quoted. These news accounts indicated greater shipping guarantees than the official note handed the embassy, so Israeli officials promptly reread their note to see if they had interpreted it correctly. Their first reading was correct. The note did not go as far as the promises reported by the press regarding free navigation through Aqaba.

Guest Editorial-

LITTLE ROCK GAZETTE: Arkansas' Marriage Law - The predictable move to wreck Arkansas' new model marriage laws has materialized rather early in the present legislative

The repeal effort should be disposed of-and we mean disposed of-with comparable energy and dispatch.

Reform legislation adopted just four years ago requires a three-day waiting period for marriage license applicants, and permits none of the waiver loopholes that made a mockery of the old waiting period. Mandatory blood tests provide a concurrent period of delay, and thus constitute a double check against hasty and ill - advised marriages or worse.

As introduced by five representatives of border counties, the repealer legislation would permit the marriage of "qualified" applicants upon presentation of some evidence of age and recent medical examination, with no waiting period at Arkansas' marriage laws must have a higher purpose than to put money in the pockets of a few people in a few border counties. When these overnight marriages break up, it isn't the county's name that takes precedence in the divorce record. It's the name of the state of Arkansas.

The state's existing marriage laws came only after a long and painful fight. Before their adoption, the commercializing of the marriage institution had reached scandalous proportions in some border towns. Two years ago, the Arkansas legislature stoutly resisted a similar border county invitation to step backward with Mississippi. We are confident that the new assembly will reject this latest bid to jeopardize the state's good name for greedy profits in "quickie" marriages.

Israeli diplomats thereupon concluded that either the press had misunderstood Dulles, or else Dulles was talking for local American consumption. In other words, he may have promised more freedom of navigation in his background conference with the American press in order to both appease critical congressmen and put Israel in a position where she had to accept his compromise

4. On Tuesday, Feb. 12, meanwhile, King Saud, returning from a happy meeting in Washington, read with consternation in Madrid that the U.S. was promising free navigation through Aqaba. It happens that Saudi Arabia owns the little islands at the mouth of Agaba, also the shore on the east side of the gulf, and the King promptly got off a hot cablegram to his embassy in Washington. This was later delivered to the White House.

It protested the President's failure to discuss this matter with Saud. Secretary Dulles had discussed the idea of keeping Egyptian troops off these islands in the future, but the King made it clear that he had no idea the United States was going as far as it did. He felt that Eisenhower had been holding out on him.

5. On Wednesday, Feb. 14, the Valentine delivered by cable from King Saud began to register at the State Department. It also began to send shivers down the spinal columns of American diplomats. They feared all the Washington missionary work with King Saud might be undone. The Arab world might be antagon-

6. By Thursday, Feb. 15, State Department officials were putting out the idea that the American support for freedom of navigation through the Gulf of Agaba would mean nothing more than submission of the matter to the world court. They had come a long way from the apparent strong promises made by Secrteary Dulles four days earlier.

That's why foreign diplomats and senators have been very much at sea as to what the Eisenhower administration does or does not mean to do in the Near East.

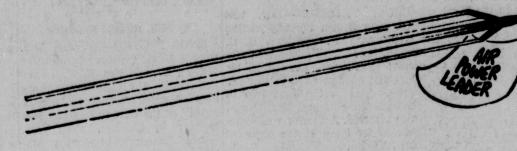

Pan Am Eyes Air Route Appointment of Louis J. Hector of Miami to the Civil Aeronautics Board is expected to tip the scales in favor of Pan American World Airways and its long-time yearning to crash the lucrative domestic market.

Hector, an alleged Democrat who voted twice for Eisenhower and who says he doesn't know anything about aeronautics except "as a paying passenger," was recommended and hand-picked by Sen. George Smathers of Florida, who like Hector was pretty close to being an Eisenhower Democrat in 1952. He refused to make any speeches for Stevenson.

Significantly, Senator Smathers' Miami law firm, Smathers, Thompson and Dyer, is the legal representative for Pan American World Airways. Naturally he has been a consistent friend of Pan Am.

The domestic route Pan American would most like to cut into is the one between New York and Miami. Last year Pan American tried to break into this market, but lost when the CAB voted 3 to 2 to let Northeast Airlines establish an additional New York-Miami route.

Odds are strong in aeronautical circles that once Hector gets on the CAB, the voting will be reversed, and Pan Am will finally get a lush license to operate a domestic air route from New York to Senator Smathers' home

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

In connection with a celebration the George Washington Bicentennial Sedalia Lodge No. 125, BPO Elks, had a class initiation.

The eighth annual Clover and Prosperity Conference was held at the courthouse, being attended by over 100 farmers from various parts of the county. B. F. Mumfort of the College of Agriculture, Columbia, was principal speaker.

Mrs. Walter Gillespie, 1620 South Ohio, left for Exeter, Calif., having been called there because of the critical illness of a sister, Mrs.

1932 S. C. Boneau, buyer for the Heil Packing Co., St. Louis, has come to Sedalia to be at the Sedalia stockyards as order buyer for that company.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Two hundred members of the Fidelity Council No. 53, and Queen City Council No. 564, Knights and Ladies of Security, celebrated the 25th anniversary of founding of that order Friday evening. A class initiation of over 50 new members was a feature. 1917

A. A. Hough sold his farm of 104 acres near Tipton to W. A. Dunham, Latham, and was to move to Sedalia to reside on West Third in property he purchased Julian Robinson returned to the Bradley Horological School at Peoria, Ill., after a weekend visit with relatives and friends.

Schuyler J. Pritchard, former young Sedalian, having employment with the Buick Motor Co. as an office man, became a member of the factory band considered one of the finest. It had 42 professional musicians in its roster.

Mother's Birthday Gifts

When Mother's birthday rolls around, Or Mother's Day and such,

The youngsters see what can be found
That don't cost very much;
From their allowance do they squeeze

They really have a time;
The little girls just gravitate
To where the beads are sold,

So much a ten-year-old.

They pick out very lovely things,

They think that they are nice,

It may be bracelets, may be rings,

But choice depends on price;

They look at earrings, every pair, At necklaces and pins,

With costume jewelry everywhere Their struggle just begins;

And then at last, they gaily go
With something loud and cheap,
Something that Mom would like, you know,
To put away and keep;
But no — they want that not a bit —

They want to see her wear it,

Because they are so proud of it —

Their taste — she does not share it;

Her little son now has a thought

That he thinks beats them all,

That he thinks beats them all,
And he was stopped before he bought
For Mother a nice ball;
Ah, yes, sometimes a Mother's gift
Is very queer indeed,
It always gives her quite a lift,
But nothing she might need.
They're treasures dollars couldn't buy
Although their cost is small
But each has such a special tie
And Mother loves them all.

There's nothing that can fascin

A quarter — or a dime — Then finding something that would please

TTENTION has been called to the move of Charles A "Van" Van Dyne from the University of Missouri to Oklahoma, and remarks as made by a couple of "so-called" sports fans of Jefferson City. In Darrell Sifford's column he remarked, "fans who watched Charles Van Dyne spark Sedalia in the Class L state tournament last season might be surprised by the remarks voiced recently by two local sportsmen.'

It seems Sifford wrote about Van Dyne changing and about his good words of comment on Van Dyne as an athlete, to which the pair took exceptions to the Jefferson City News and Tribune sports editor's remarks.

To me, the remarks sound more like childish utterances than from a "sports fan." I shall reprint their remarks to let Sedalia fans who know "Van" see what the Capitol City pair thinks. "He's not college material in any sport," they added, and "he's a cry baby and a pouter" one said, "He doesn't want to play unless he can be a star . . . Now those types of remarks, as I said before, sound too childish to come from a true sports

I don't have to come rushing out to defend Van Dyne. In fact, none of the Van Dynes who have been in athletics needs anyone to fight their battles. Their records speak for themselves.

There is no secret about it. Van Dyne in the first place didn't want to go to Missouri. His going to M.U. came about only by the pressure that was put on him by friends who favored Missouri, and especially because his father played there as an All-America. I personally know that his parents did not take any part in the choosing of his school, but others close to them did implore and preach what it would mean to him to go to M.

Don Faurot will tell you that it took several meetings with "Van" before he finally decided to enroll at Missouri. I talked with "Van" during the first part of the year and I knew then he was about the most unhappy lad I had seen in his choice of school. He didn't say so in so many words, but it was written all over him.

Coach Faurot would not have asked him to go to Missouri if he didn't think "Van" was a good athlete as well as a good student.

Personally, I admire him for finally making up his own mind and deciding to go where he wanted in the first place. Maybe things will be tough for him make the Sooners Varsity, but he'll be out there trying and doing just what he wants. And under those circumstances, he'll show some of these "die hards" who don't know him personal-

Oklahoma has just as good a university as Missouri. The people who go there are just as human as they are at Missouri, and certainly I believe they're just as good sportsmen. Those two "jokers" at Jefferson City can't deny that Van Dyne did carry a load in helping Smith-Cotton to the state finals at St. Louis last year.

THEIR respect was nil for football and even less for his basketball talents. I can readily understand the latter-Van Dyne was the spark which beat the Jefferson City Jays out of the Class L Regional at Eldon last year 55-53-REMEMBER?

It is strictly apparent they were griping over his change because of the loss to Missouri, not because he couldn't play basketball. If so, they lost track of Van and his record.

As I recall it, he established several records with the 1955-56 cage team of Smith-Cotton. Just two of those records (it would take too much space to review all of them established last year): A shooting record of 57 per cent for the season; free throw record of 75.8 per cent for the season, most points in a single conference game, and an average for the season of 26.7 points per game. Not bad, I'd say.

I know Sifford doesn't feel as was stated by the two fans-he was put in a spot to pass on their utterances, and so he has done his duty. But I wonder if the two fellows who had so much mouthing to do can understand records - they speak for themselves.

As Darrell well put it in his column, "But if he does go on to stardom at Oklahoma, it won't be the first time a Missouri schoolboy prodigy has eluded the University." Yes, remember Griffith who went to Kansas from Lee's Summit.

I also know Bud Wilkinson wasn't too unhappy when Van Dyne made his choice and moved to Norman.

Evidently both Coach Faurot and Coach Wilkinson felt Van Dyne capable for football and basketball, otherwise they would not have been anxious to have him. He received his M.U. scholarship in athletics, and although he does not have one at the present time it is believed he will have an Oklahoma scholarship as soon as he completes one full semester in that Uni-They don't just dish out a Sumed in New York Monday.

While the sale presumably would involve a shift of the Lakers to another city, Berger said this has not been completely settled.

"There are people in Minneapolis the Cardinals with the race this year with the Cardinals who are interested in keeping th joining last year's three contend- team here," he said.

There are many who still be-lieve the Braves had the best club Cole Camp Edges in the National League last year and should have romped off with the flag. Realists reason, however, that it took an almost superhuman slugging effort by the team a record—tying 221 home runs to make the club a challenger. Cincinnati's mediocree pitching staff remains a question along with whether Frank Robinson, Ed Bailey, Wally Post, Ted Kluszewski, Johnny Temple and Roy McMillan can all repeat their standout seasons.

With nearly everyone conceding the AL pennant to the Yankees, most of the attention will be focused on Mantle, the world champion's switch - hitting slugger. Even if Mickey fails to top Ruth's 60 home runs in 1957, he is favored to capture the home run, runs batted in and batting titles just as he did last year to become he majors' first triple crown champion since Williams in '47. It wouldn't surprise many if the 26-year-old strong boy from Commerce, Okla., were to improve on his 1956 figure of .353, 130 runs batted in and 52 home runs.

Many experts believe the Tigers will displace the Indians as the most serious threat to the Yankees. They base their opinions on the presence of such fine hitters in the Tiger lineup as Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline, Ray Boone and Charley Maxwell and the strong young hurling staff headed by 20-game winners Frank Lary and Billy Hoeft. The Tigers were fifth last year.

The Indians, already short on power, figure to be even harder hit by the retirement of Al Rosen, who represented their most potent righthanded weapon. They still possess the best pitching in the league but Wynn is 37 and Lemon is 36. The Indians probably will have more fire and hustle under Kerby Farrell, their new manager.

OCEANSIDE, Calif. 49 — Scientists say that Indian picture writings on rocks in the nearby San Luis Rey Valley strengthen the theory that American Indians migrated to the North American continent from Asia.

Dr. J. J. Markey, head of the San Luis Rey Historical Society, said tests made at the University of California at Los Angeles show the symbols in the rocks to be from 400 to 9,000 years of age. Dr. Markey said 60 different symbols have been identified and a score of them indicate an Asiatic origin.

FIRST CASUALTY—Philadelphia Coach Benny Bengough became baseball's first training casualty of 1957 and had to take to the rubbing table and heating pads at Clearwater, Fla., camp Benny twisted his ankle—while walking out a bank, which gives an idea of how good baseball can be

What Determines Gasoline Prices?

Many people may not realize the number of items involved in the price of gasoline.

GASOLINE TAXES. A typical price of STANDARD RED CROWN Gasoline in mid-Missouri is 22 9/10 cents a gallon excluding direct taxes. That's right! Only 22 9/10 cents! Direct state and federal taxes on gasoline total 6† centsequal to 26 per cent of the price of the gasoline alone-bringing the price to you to a total of 28 9/10 cents.

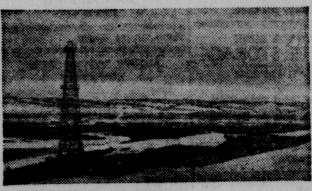

DEALER'S SHARE. The dealer, of course, knows that quality for quality he must meet competition to attract and hold business. At the same time, he must operate profitably to keep himself in business. To do so, he is entitled to a fair and reasonable mark-up, which is included in the 22 9/10 cents you actually pay for the gasoline itself. With this he supports himself and his family, pays his taxes and his help, pays for the many services he offers his customers. He makes provision for all of these items in the few cents competition allows.

OUT OF OUR PORTION of the 22 9/10 cents you actually pay for the gasoline itself, we find crude oil, transport it, refine it and then deliver the gasoline to your independent Standard Dealer. And money received from the sales of products enables us to pay the wages and salaries of our more than 51,000 employees, pay reasonable dividends to stockholders, and finance constant improvement in the quality of our products. For example, gasoline octane increases of the past 2 years added about 25 million dollars per year to our continuing operating costs. General wage increases of slightly over 4 per cent and 6 per cent in 1955 and 1956 increased our costs about 28 million dollars annually. This total of about 53 million dollars over 1954 is a continuing annual cost, and is expected to increase further during 1957.

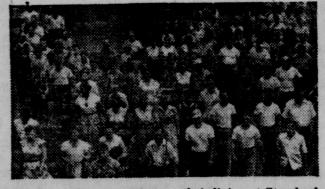

Yet by almost any yardstick you apply, whatever necessity you compare it with, gasoline is one of your best bargains today. That goes for quality, it goes for service, and it goes for price.

* WHAT MAKES A COMPANY A GOOD CITIZEN?

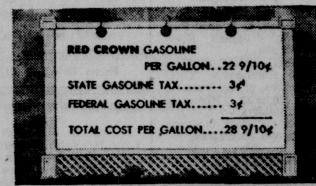

Well, one measure of citizenship is a company's frankness in discussing subjects that are of importance to its austomers. Certainly price is such a subject. And we want you to know something about the many and complicated economic factors that determine the price of gasoline.

ge cost of drilling an oil well in 1953 was about $80,000. Last year the average cost had risen to about $106,000. Many individual wells are more expensive, some costing upwards of $1 million.

More than 51,000 people earn their living at Standard Oil. They, like you, have had to meet higher living costs. And in the last 15 years, their wages and its have increased, on the average, 170 per cent.

The taxes you pay on gasoline—equal to 26% of the cost of the gasoline itself-help to build and maintain Missouri's expanding highway system. You pay these direct taxes whenever you buy gasoline.

A BARGAIN

A duplex for home and investment combined. 4 rooms and a garage downstairs, 5 rooms upstairs. This was built for a duplex apartment and is not a remodeled residence. Divided basement under entire apartment, with two separate entrances for each occupant. Two separate entrances for each apartment, which has its own kitchen and bath.

This apartment belongs to a non-resident, who is sick in the hospital and must sell. Mr. G.I., if you are in line for a loan, here is a place that will make you a home and an income to help pay for same. These two apartments have neither one been vacant in ten years. Situated at 512 S. Kentucky. See Real Estate office of Frank Monroe, 3121/2 S. Ohio for price, which is about 50% of what this would cost to re-produce.

Even deeply religious people are often troubled by this instinctive urge to know "the unknowable," and in their quest they sometimes draw unwarranted conclusions even from sacred writings. This is notably true of the Book of Revelation, or the Apocalypse of St. John

The purpose of Revelation is not, as some seem to think, to reveal a detailed panorama of the future. It is not a magic key to unlock a door that God has seen fit to leave closed. It is, indeed, a book of prophecy...and God's Own promise...but it relates to the past and the present as well as the future. Like the other

Scriptures, it is a book which must be understood in its fullness, and with a knowledge of its precise purpose and the circumstances under which it was written.

The precise purpose of Revela-tion is to manifest the triumph of Christ. With reference to the past, it points to Our Lord's triumph over sin and death by His life, crucifixion and resurrection. As to the present, Revelation makes clear that this triumph is complete only to the extent that men accept

Christ's salvation and live by it.

Above is a scene from Alfred Hitchcocks' new true life movie, "THE WRONG MAN," starring Henry Fonda and Vera Miles, starts Sunday at the Uptown Theatre. The master of suspense is at his celebrated best in the drama of mistaken identity, filmed in the actual New York locales. Starring in the second feature "JOHNNY O'CLOCK" are Dick Powell and Evelyn Keyes.

Together at last on the movie screen are Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds, stars of RKO's romantic comedy, "Bundle of Joy," now at the Fox Theatre. Co-starred are Adolphe Menjou and Tommy Noonan. Eddie sings six new songs in the Technicolor movie.

Emmy Contest Nominations Are Puzzling

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (A) - They're off

and running in the ninth annual Emmy handicap.

The nominations are somewhat less confused than in previous years but there still remain some puzzling elements. I suppose this stems from the fact that competition for honors can never be as clear-cut in TV as it is in movies.

There are too many variables in TV. For instance actors are pitted against each other in two different mediums; live TV which, is like the stage and filmed TV which is movie technique. A live actor has the advantage of playing a sustained performance without interruption. A film actor has the advantage of retakes but must do his work in bits and

Here are some of the puzzlers in this year's nominations:

Ed Wynn, who played single performance in "Requiem for a Heavyweight" is competing for best supporting actor with Paul Ford, Art Carney, Bill Frawley and Carl Reiner, who appear weekly.

Likewise Mildred Natwick on the basis of "Blithe Spirit," is up against regulars Vivian Vance, Pat Carroll, Ann B. Davis and Audrey Meadows.

Leonard Bernstein, who has made two or three TV appearances must fight for "best personality" honors with Steve Allen, Perry Como, Ernie Ford and Alfred Hitchcock who have weekly

Why does Faye Emerson ap pear in the "best female personality" list? She hasn't starred on her own show in years having Troop 5 Girls functioned solely as a guest and

And what's Nanette Fabray doing amid other "best comediennes,, Edith Adams, Grace Allen, Lucille Ball and Ann Sothern? Nanette hasn't been on a regular left Sid Caesar's program.

Despite these inconsistencies ing on their cooking badge. the nomination appeared to be more apt than they have been in past years of the stormy history ask for too much logic during the ments for the child care badge. award season.
